Dear Parents/Carers,

It has been a very busy first week back in school after the half term holiday. I have seen some amazing home learning projects this week that you and your children have worked incredibly hard to complete. Prize winners will be announced shortly, and will be displayed near the school entrance. Thank you to all of you for supporting your children so well.

Next Friday (8th March) we will be celebrating World Book Day in school. We ask that the children dress up as a character from a book on that day. The staff are also dressing up, and the whole school day will be dedicated to reading activities. Also, next week, classes will be taking part in 'We're going on a book hunt' activities. We are looking forward to a fun week ahead.

On a more serious note, you may have noticed in the media, articles around children's online safety and several games that are causing concern. Police and charities have not reported any incidents in the UK linked to children seeing or taking part in these particular dangerous activities, however, the images themselves can cause distress to children. Therefore, we are sending out information alongside the newsletter this week with suggestions about how to reassure your children and protect them online at home. In school, there are filters in place so that children are unable to access inappropriate content, and if they try, this is flagged up to staff who take appropriate action. The children have all been reminded about how to keep themselves safe online, and what to do if they feel worried.

Have a lovely weekend with your families.

Kind regards,
Lisa Gillam

School Uniform

We have noticed a number of children not wearing full school uniform recently. Please ensure your child comes to school wearing grey/black school trousers/skirt, a white polo shirt and a red school jumper.

We also ask that children wear sensible shoes, wearing trainers is not acceptable.

Thank you!

WORLD BOOK DAY

This year's World Book Day will be held in school on Friday 8th March 2019.

This year's theme is Share A Story.

We are encouraging each child to dress as their favourite book character - we look forward to seeing all the different costumes.

Internet safety:

- Place your children's computers where you can see them, where possible in communal rooms.
- Always know what they're doing and who they're talking to.
- Explain to them that not everyone online tells the truth and they should never meet strangers without a known adult present.
- Teach your children the Click Code: Zip it (keep personal information private), Block it (block disturbing messages), Flag it (report anything worrying to you).
