Year group: 6

Reading			Writing		Oracy
Find a recipe for your favourite food. Can you identify and list the imperative verbs within it? Challenge: Use the imperative verbs you found and create your own 'nonsense' recipe with them.	Research a famous chef and create a factfile about them. You could look into Nadiya Hussain, Jamie Oliver or Lorraine Pascale for example.	Read JK Rowling's new online book... The Ickabog . You might also like to enter her illustration competition 😊 There are 10 chapters available to read so far. https://www.theickabog.com/read-the-story/	Write a recipe for a really healthy pizza. Then try it out with your family if you're able to .	Fast food establishments should not be within 1 mile of schools. Write 5 points that support the above statement and then 5 points that oppose it.	Using your questioning skills, find out about the history of a family recipe. Where did it originate from? How has the recipe changed over the years? Use the 5 Ws to create your questions and record the responses you get.
Maths			Well-being		Weekly theme - food
Create a poster showing all you know about angles. Make use of your keyway maths equipment.	Pick 10 food items from your kitchen. From the nutritional label, note down the sugar content of each item. How could you best represent your findings? A table? A pie chart or bar graph?	https://www.thenational.academy/year-6/maths/find-the-value-of-missing-angles-year-6-wk3-1 Practice finding the value of missing angles.	As long as the weather is dry, take your lunch outside with your family – in your garden or socially distanced in public. Take note of the sounds of nature while you eat. Feel the warmth of the sun on your skin while you enjoy your food.	Enjoy a family meal together if you can. You could discuss what you have all done that day; what your plans are for the next day or something that has happened in the news.	With the adults at home, create a 'book themed' culinary delight . Look at the examples on booktrust.org.uk like the 'Goth Girl' Victoria sponge cake recipe.

Aim to do one or two activities each day. Remember you can email any work to our year group email address: year6@lodge.sandwell.sch.uk and staff will look at it and then send you feedback 😊
